Forecast for Saturday 02 Apr 2022

Weather: Bright or sunny intervals spells, then isolated showers from late morning. These afternoon showers are most likely to fall as rain at lower levels, while becoming wintry above 600m, but mainly over the highest summits, as well as the potential for isolated hail and thunderstorms. Showers die away late afternoon, leaving a dry and increasingly clear evening.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 600m: 70% becoming 100% this evening.

Low cloud and visibility: Largely excellent visibility with distant hills clearly seen, but temporarily dropping to nearby hills being visible with any passing showers. With any showers cloud bases may temporarily lower to cover the highest summits, but overall summits will be cloud free.
